CLASS WILL

We, the seniors of Ogden Community High School, village of Ogden, state of Illinois, being of sound mind and of good intelligence, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament, in manner and form following, hereby revoking any will or wills, heretofore made by us.

I, Walter Robbins, do hereby will and bequeath my position on the basketball team to Carl Carter, and my manly chest to Clarence Osterbur.

I, Wanda Viles, do hereby will and bequeath my long, black hair to Mildred Putnam and my ability to win the D. A. R. award to Glen Busboom.

I, Robert Osterbur, do hereby will and bequeath my ability as a softball pitcher to Herbert Osterbur.

I, Wanda Danner, do hereby will and bequeath my love for chocolate sundaes to Wilma Jacobs and my gift of "gab" to Clarence Osterbur.

I, Russell Green, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to escort English teachers home after hayrides to John Osterbur.

I, Georgia Fiscus, do hereby will and bequeath my love for sailors to Wilma Jacobs.

I, Philip Dale McMahon, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to torment the teachers to Danny Freeman.

I, Billie Sattler, do hereby will and bequeath my love to Glen Busboom.

I, Annetta Thompsen, do hereby will and bequeath my love for basketball to Helen Hayn and the thrill of being engaged to Dorothy Stein.

I, Betty Hall, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to dance and jitterbug to Dorothy Stein, and my lisp to Elvin Osterbur.

I, Phyllis Anderson, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to go on a date and not park to Bertie Bradley.

I, Norma Jean Thompson, do hereby will and bequeath my desire to become a school "marm" to Helen Hayn.

I, Elizabeth Wallace, do hereby will and bequeath some of my weight to Betty Eyestone.

PROPHECY

In the year of 1960 we find two of our former classmates, Wanda Danner, now the United States Supervisor of Home Economics, and her co-partner, Wanda June Viles, who is a graduate nurse, traveling with her in case of sickness as the result of Wanda's experiments.

They are heading across the Atlantic in one of Robert Osterbur's luxurious ocean liners which is one of the two hundred he owns back in the United States. They arrive at a small port on the coast of Africa, and as they depart from the boat they observe a large commotion on the shore. As they approach the crowd their ears meet with a familiar voice, that of a person heard back in 1946 in old Ogden High. Betty Hall is announcing the program of the evening of her Desert Cavaliers. Betty now has a small band which entertains all passengers arriving from Osterbur's liners. Her featured singer is none other than the melodious opera star, Billie Joyce Sattler.

The next day Wanda June and Wanda Danner accompany Betty and her band to a small town on the edge of the Sahara Desert where they find Annetta Thompsen running a grocery store. Betty asks Annetta the best way to get to Russell Green's Desert Ball Room. Annetta tells them that Walter Robbins runs a Camel Caravan at the edge of town and that he will direct them to the famous spot.

So they now proceed to the stables, where they find Walter on his hands and knees washing a camel's hoof, getting ready for the long journey to Green's Ball Room. In about an hour they are mounted and ready to depart. After three hours of hard traveling they see in the distance the gleaming lights of the terraced lawn of the ball room. Upon seeing them they urge their camels forward at a greater speed.

Arriving at the gates of the ballroom they meet Phyllis Anderson, who is hat check girl. She has been employed here for the past two years. As they are passing under the vine covered archway, they see two charming dancing girls, Elizabeth Wallace and Georgia Fiscus. They are greeted with fine hospitality and after sprucing up a bit, Walter suggests that they all go to Philip McMahon's hot dog stand for a short snack. There they find Norma Jean Thompson tired and worn out from a hard day at teaching. Norma Jean is now a school teacher in a small desert village about the size of our little home town, Ogden. At this time Mr. Hay steps into the door of the history room where he finds the Senior Class asleep, as usual, dreaming of the Far East.

Back row—Glen Busboom, Herbert Osterbur, Clarence Osterbur, John Osterbur, Carl Carter, Danny Freeman, Elvin Osterbur, and Miss Carter, class advisor.

JUNIOR CLASS

The junior class entered Ogden High in the fall of "43." Of the original 22 members, thirteen remain. Though the class is small, the members have been very active. Last fall they presented the annual class play, a three-act comedy, "Everything Happens to Us." At the community Hallowe'en party they won first place with their stunt. Their magazine selling campaign was quite successful. As a group they sponsored the junior-senior banquet and the prom which followed it at which Mendel Riley's orchestra was engaged to play. The seven boys in the class have participated in softball, basketball, and track.

The class officers are: President, Carl Carter; Vice-President, Danny Freeman; Secretary, Betty Eyestone; Treasurer, Bertie Bradley; and Reporter, Glen Busboom.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The sophomore class of "48" entered Ogden High with 17 members. Although they haven't had as much opportunity to take part in activities as the juniors and seniors they have proved themselves capable in several ways. They planned the annual freshman party. Most of the boys are very active in sports and the class as a whole has contributed much to the band.

The class officers are: President, Forrest Danner; Vice-President, Donald Jacobs; Secretary-Treasurer, Robert Meyer; Reporter, Elvin Dean Mauk.

Middle row—Lorraine Meier, David Woods, Joe Jones, Kenneth Cadle, Erwin Osterbur, John Britt, and Miss Gioannini, sponsor.

Front row—Jeannie Fry, Patty Maxwell, Clarene Hayn, Joy Peters, Marilyn Huls, June Bradley, and Mary Lou Habben.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The freshman class, although it has not been with us long, seems to be getting a good start. The names of the members appeared quite often on the honor roll. Several play in the band and belong to the boys' and girls' choruses. A few of the boys are very active in sports, some playing on the soft ball team and others playing on the second team basketball squad.

Two of the girls were reserve cheer-leaders.

Officers of the freshman class, sponsored by Miss Gioannini, are:

President.....	Joe Jones
Vice-President.....	Erwin Osterbur
Secretary-Treasurer.....	John Britt
Reporter.....	David Plotner

BASKETBALL

The Bulldogs of Ogden High had a thrilling season of basketball under the staunch leadership of Robert Osterbur and Walter Robbins as co-captains and Mr. Hay as the first semester coach and Mr. Waldrip as coach after his discharge from the service.

The material was somewhat green this year but it had a good team spirit. The only substitutes were freshmen, two juniors, and a sophomore.

The Ogden Bulldogs upset St. Joseph and Homer, both by a one-point margin. The games were won by a free throw in the last seconds. In the St. Joseph game Robert Sattler made the winning free throw with five seconds left in the game.

The first game of the season was lost to Uni High, but the game was later forfeited to Ogden as they unknowingly played an ineligible player. This made it nine wins to sixteen defeats for the Bulldogs for the entire season and eight wins to seven losses in Champaign County. Carry on, Bulldogs!

TRACK

Above is pictured the 1945 track team with the exception of four boys. They are Herbert and Ehme Osterbur who graduated and John Bauerle and Dale Myers who moved away. The team competed in two dual meets, two triangular meets and the county meet. The following are the events and the boys who competed in them: 100 and 220—Glen Busboom, Walter Robbins, and Herbert J. Osterbur; 440—Glen Busboom; 880-yard run—Bob Sattler, Dale Myers, P. D. McMahon, and Donald Jacobs; high hurdles—Robert Osterbur and Danny Freeman; low hurdles—Robert Osterbur, Danny Freeman, Walter Robbins, and John Bauerle; pole vault—John Bauerle and Russell Green; discus—Russell Green, Ehme Osterbur, and Herbert H. Osterbur; high jump—Robert Osterbur, John Bauerle, and Walter Robbins; relay—Herbert Osterbur, Walter Robbins, John Bauerle, and Glen Busboom. The leading point-man was John Bauerle followed by Glen Busboom. This year's squad is made up of the veterans from last year's team and several freshmen and sophomores.

Bottom row—Erwin Osterbur, Herbert Osterbur, Russell Green, Robert Osterbur, Walter Robbins, and Glen Busboom.

SOFTBALL

The softball season opened with 25 boys reporting for the first practice. No permanent position was assigned to any player but rather everything depended upon who looked best in practice. Three veterans—Robert Osterbur, Glen Busboom, and Walter Robbins—were left from the previous year's team. Several boys received an opportunity to play on the first team in competition. At the close of the season the following boys had cinched a permanent position on the team:

Robert Osterbur	Pitcher	Glen Busboom	Shortstop
Dale Carter	Catcher	Walter Robbins.....	Left Field
Virgil Duitsman.....	First Base	Herbert Osterbur.....	Center Field
Herbert Bluhm.....	Second Base	Edward Bluhm.....	Right Field
Erwin Osterbur.....	Third Base	John Britt.....	Short Field

The team was scheduled to play eight games but actually played only four of them because of rain.

CHEERLEADERS

Shortly before the opening of the basketball season of 1945-46 Mr. Hay asked for candidates for cheerleaders. He explained the principal qualifications which a good cheerleader should have such as enthusiasm to inspire the cheering section at each game.

There were three names turned in to Mr. Hay for tryouts including Phyllis Anderson, Billie Joyce Sattler, and Jeannie Fry but before the election was held it was suggested and voted to have cheerleaders for the first team and cheerleaders for the second team. As this was a good idea, June Bradley added her name to the group.

As Phyllis and Billie were cheerleaders last season and proved themselves to the student body in their ability to keep the team and fans in good spirit, they were elected for first team cheerleaders. June and Jeannie were selected to lead yells for second team games.

The first team cheerleaders wore maroon pleated skirts with white blazer jackets trimmed in maroon. The reserve cheerleaders wore maroon pleated skirts with white slip-over sweaters.

The loyalty of the cheerleaders is recognized to be of invaluable help in upholding the morale of both teams.

One of the favorite yells is:

Yea, team! Fight, fight, fight, fight, fight, fight. Yea, team, fight!

The F. H. A. this year has been quite active. They have worked hard in trying to earn money for various activities such as sending a specified group of girls to the Summer Camp, and for buying Home Ec. pins. Last year they had the honor of sending Wilma Jacobs and Wanda Viles to their Home Ec. Camp. The girls to be sent to camp this year have not been chosen.

Their Program Committee—Betty Eyestone, Marilyn Huls, Betty C. Hall, and Clara Putnam—have planned a very interesting program. It includes ice skating, a sleigh ride, slumber party, a theater party and several others.

The Home Ec. Club was first organized in 1941 under the director, Miss Furst. It was at first called Modern Homemakers, but now it is called the Future Homemakers of America.

The F. F. A. was organized shortly before the second semester. At their second meeting the boys planned several field trips. They planned to go to the University of Illinois to judge various classes of livestock. A project tour was planned for the summer months. Nearly all intended to show at the annual F. F. A. fair in August. As means of raising money the boys planned to sell seeds and collect dues. The F. F. A. colors are blue and gold, the blue representing the national blue and the gold representing the golden corn. The F. F. A. motto is:

*Learning to do.
Doing to learn.
Earning to live.
Living to serve.*

Back row—Wilma Jacobs, Danny Freeman, Russell Green, David Plotner, Herbert Bluhm, Carl Carter, Robert Meyer, Robert Behrens, Irene Aden, Wanda Danner, Mr. Swengel, director, and Kenneth Cadle.

BAND

The band, directed by Mr. Swengel, has been very active at all the school events to which its presence added much.

Many of the students who started as beginners at the first of the year are now in the band.

The band played at the junior and senior plays, accompanied the Christmas cantata, "The Story of Christmas," and helped put pep into the pep sessions and ball games.

The band attended the County Music Festival at Champaign Junior High School on April 26. Among the selections played were "March of Youth," "Bells of St. Mary's," and "Beautiful America."

Several members of the band played instrumental solos this year. Russell Green played a trombone solo, "Home," accompanied by Mary Lou Habben. Kenneth Cadle, accompanied by Mary Lou Habben, played a drum solo.

Back row—Elvin Osterbur, Walter Robbins, Robert Meyer, Danny Freeman, Kenneth Cadle, Herbert Osterbur, Robert Osterbur, Glen Busboom and Bobby Craig.

Middle row—Edward Bluhm, Forrest Danner, John Osterbur, Elvin Dean Mauk, Carl Carter, Russell Green, and Mr. Swengel, director.

First row—Donald Jacobs, Philip McMahon, David Plotner, Erwin Osterbur, Richard Esworthy, David Woods, Glen Yeazel, and Herbert Bluhm.

Boys' Chorus

The Boys' Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Swengel, has been together as a group during the past three years. It started out as a small group but began to increase as years went along. At present it consists of twenty-four members.

On April 26 the Chorus attended the annual spring festival at Champaign Junior High to which all the high school musical organizations in the county were invited. The groups practiced together during the day and in the evening they sang for all the parents and friends. The Boys' Chorus sang "Climbing Up the Mountain" and the "Navy Hymn."

The boys also have a special group called the "Barber Shop Harmonizers." The harmonizers include Carl Carter, Russell Green, Danny Freeman, Walter Robbins, John Osterbur, Robert Osterbur, Forrest Danner, and Mr. Swengel, the director.

Top row—Wilma Jacobs, June Bradley, Mildred Putnam, Betty Hall, Billie Joyce Sattler, Norma Jean Thompson, Phyllis Anderson, Eilene Robbins, and Jeannie Fry.

Middle row—Joy Peters, Annetta Thompsen, Betty Eyestone, Bertie Bradley, Helen Hayn, Irene Aden, Lois Boyd, Wanda Danner, and Mr. Swengel, director.

Bottom row—Mary Lou Habben, Lorraine Meier, Clara Putnam, Marilyn Huls, Clarene Hayn, Helen Bluhm, Georgia Lee Fiscus, and Patty Maxwell.

Girls' Chorus

The Girls' Chorus, directed by Mr. Swengel, is for all girls who enjoy and want to learn music. Mary Lou Habben accompanies the group.

The chorus meets every Tuesday, while on Thursday the boys meet with the girls forming the Mixed Chorus.

Both the Girls' Chorus and Mixed Chorus sang at the junior and senior plays. On December 20, 1945, the combined chorus gave a Christmas cantata, "The Story of Christmas."

On April 26 the Chorus attended the annual spring festival at Champaign Junior High to which all high school musical organizations in the county are invited. The groups practiced together during the day and in the evening they sang for all the parents and friends. The Girls' Chorus sang "In a Monastery Garden" and "Dickory, Dickory Dock."

The Special Girls' Chorus consisted of Annetta Thompsen, Bertie Bradley, Phyllis Anderson, Betty Hall, Joy Peters, Eilene Robbins, Norma Jean Thompson, and Billie Joyce Sattler.

Standing—Philip Dale McMahon, Miss Gioannini, director, Robert Osterbur, Walter Robbins, Russell Green, Wanda June Viles, and Wanda Danner.

Seated—Betty Hall, Phyllis Anderson, Billie Joyce Sattler, Annetta Thompson, Georgia Fiscus, and Norma Jean Thompson.

Senior Play

The traditional senior class play, "Saved by the Belle," was presented March 22. The play centered around Rita Powers, who had just received as an inheritance from her uncle, Jackie Clark, contender for the middleweight championship, and his trainer, Slugger O'Day, whom she harbored at the sorority house. Warren Sands, a young reporter, learned the girls were hiding Jackie and Slugger and threatened to expose them. As a prevention the girls kidnapped Warren and complications piled up until it looked as if things could never be straightened out but, of course, everything turned out for the best at the conclusion of the play.

Junior Play

The Junior Class Play, "Everything Happens to Us," was presented October 26. The theme of the play centers around the Ross family who are excited because Rhett, their oldest son, is going East to marry the daughter of a multi-millionaire who owns a string of five and ten cent stores, in one of which Rhett has been working. Mrs. Ross, who always tries to "live up to the Jones'," decides that their old home isn't good enough for such a wealthy daughter-in-law, so she makes a down payment of $500 on a new one, which she and her two younger sons frantically try to redecorate themselves before Rhett comes home with his bride. Other problems arise and are solved before the comedy comes to a happy ending.
